Homecoming Floats Winners Announced

Announcement of float and car winners in the Homecoming parade Saturday was made amid a whirl of Homecoming activities.

Highlighting the day was the crowning of the queen, a Volunteer football victory, a half-time show and two dances.

Pi Kappa Alpha took first place in the float division with the theme "Drag Over The Braves;" second place was awarded to Alpha Tau Omega fraternity with "Vols Tilt the Braves" as their theme, and "Last Rites for the Braves" was the theme for Alpha Gamma Rho capturing third place.

In the car division, Phi Sigma Kappa was first; second place was won by Chi Omega sorority, and Alpha Omicron Pi colony placed third.

Lynn Page, 1965 Homecoming queen, was crowned at halftime by Dr. Andrew H. Holt, president of The University of Tennessee. Miss Page was attended by her court composed of Miss Shirley Raines, first alternate, and Miss Barbara Johnson, second alternate.

Before the football game, Dr. Paul Meek, vice-president of The University of Tennessee, landed on the field in a helicopter and presented the football to the captains.

A 34-25 victory by the Vols over Bradley University was a crowning event of the day. Neither team was daunted by the extremely windy weather.

During half-time the University Marching Band and majorettes, directed by E. J. Eaton, presented an intricate show with a hillbilly theme.

Two Homecoming dances, one at the Armory and one at the Women's Gym, climaxed a full day of activities.

'64-65 Yearbook Gets All American Rating

The University of Tennessee Martin Branch Volunteer has received the All-American Award for the sixth year in a row.

The 1965 Volunteer was under the editorship of Betty Weems and assistant editor Hunter Welles. Mrs. Mildred Y. Payne was advisor for the yearbook.

Twenty-Seven Organizations Represented In SG Senate

Thirty-seven organizations and clubs on campus are represented in the student government.

These representatives, or student senators, along with the student government officers, form the governing body of the campus and its activities. The senate meets on the first Tuesday of each month.

The students and their respective organizations are the following:

Andrea Jonas, Chi Omega; Barbara Johnson, Main Women's Dormitory; Allan Hanks, Election Commission; Roland Young, Engineering Club; Terry Tucker, Freeman Hall; Jerry Bussell, Grenadiers Club; Adrienne Adams, Home Economics Chapter; Tom Gallien, Independent Students Association; Tony Hardin, Interfraternity Council; Jerry Carpenter, Men's Dormitory; Houston Gordon, Liberal Arts Club.

Ronnie Hughes, Mt. Pella Lodge; Hugh Deck, Mu Epsilon Delta; Becky Reed, National Panhellenic Council; Bill Neese, Phi Sigma Kappa; Tim Powers, Pi Kappa Alpha; Van Futrell, Shannon Hall; Mary Ann Moffatt, Sigma Tau Delta; Tom Dial, Student National Education Association; Lorry Ruth, "T" Club; Pat Taylor, Tall Vol Club; Nawasa Jonas, Volette; Gene Hardy, Volunteer Lodge; Sherry Tate, Y Dorm; Mike Brookshire, Yearbook; Linda Chandler, Zeta Tau Alpha.

Senior Ring Deadline Set For October 29

The Senior rings must be ordered by October 29 from the Student Welfare Office.

The deposit of $5 must be paid when ordering. The rings will be in around the first of January.

Changing Nickname Of Athletic Teams Under Alumni Study

A prospective change of the official nickname of UTMB's intercollegiate athletic teams was a main topic of discussion at the executive committee meeting of the UTMB Alumni Association Saturday.

Other topics under discussion were updating of the executive committee, updating of the alumni mailing list and alumni qualifications.

"If enthusiasm is shown by the students and alumni, a method of selecting a new name will be devised," said Lewis E. Larsen, associate director of alumni and placement.

UTMB's present nickname, the "Volunteers," is also the nickname of The University of Tennessee at Knoxville. The proposed change would eliminate problems created by the identical nicknames.

One member of the committee said that he was "tired of hearing UTMB referred to as the Baby Vols."

Among names suggested at the meeting were "Tennesseans," "Cherokees," "Rough Riders" and others.

The proposed change will undergo further discussion at the January 29 meeting of the executive committee.

Updating the executive committee was also a main topic of concern. Plans were discussed to exchange the present plan for one that will allow for a board composed of three representatives from each of the six departments located on the UTMB campus.

This plan is similar to the Board of Governors of the General Alumni Association of The University of Tennessee.

Also suggested in the meeting was an updating of the alumni mailing list. The list has currently been increased from 1,200 to 3,000; but this is still short of the approximate 20,000 alumni.

Anyone who has attended UTMB for one quarter in residence and has severed relations with UTMB is an alumni.

Students who know someone who qualifies as an alumni should contact the Alumni and Placement Office.

V-P Meek States Work On Center Progressing Well

Construction on the Student Center is making promising headway, according to Dr. Paul Meek, vice president of The University of Tennessee in charge of the Martin Branch.

The ceiling of the first floor has been poured and supporting studs for the walls and ceiling of the second floor are being put in place. The plan is to get the roof on the second floor and put tarpaulins around the building. This will allow work to continue inside the building throughout the winter months, he said.

The building, planned for use beginning in the fall of 1966, is west of the Main Women's Residence Hall. It will be a two story building with provisions for expansion to the west, east and south. The cost will be approximately $1,500,000.

The west end of the first floor will house the cafeteria which will serve 1000 to 1200 students and the kitchen. A snack bar will occupy the southeast corner. Provisions will be made in the northeast portion of the building for ping pong and billiards. A television room, a card room, a barber shop and lockers will also be located in this area.

The upper floor will extend seven feet over the lower one, sheltering a walkway on the ground. The large ballroom on this floor has three adjacent private dining rooms separated only by folding doors. A storage room for tables and chairs and dumb waiter will also be in this southwest part of the building. Six offices for small groups and an adjoining meeting room and mimeograph room drawn into the northwest corner with a bookstore and post office extending along the north side. Four large meeting rooms, a television and music room and rest rooms are found in the northeast section of this floor. The southeast section is composed of a general lounge.

The front (north side) of the building is bordered by a porte cochere which will accommodate approximately eight cars under roof simultaneously. The building is terraced on the south side extending part way on the east and west sides. There will be entrances on all four sides. The building will contain a total of 56,472 total square feet, excluding the porte cochere.

Dr. Meek added that those students who live in A and C dorms and later B and D dorms will pay a combined room and board fee and will be required to eat in the cafeteria. Anyone else may eat there who wishes.

Also, concerning the mail, it will continue to be delivered to the dorms as a convenience for the students.

In order to pay for the building, a thirty year loan has been obtained and the student activity fee will be increased by $8 next fall, he added.

ISA To Sponsor Dance Friday Night

An open dance, sponsored by the Independent Students Association will begin Friday night at 7:30 p.m. in the Women's Physical Education Building. Entertainment for ISA Night will be provided by the "Henchmen" from Dyersburg.

The cost will be $1 tag or drag for active ISA members and $1.50 for all other students, David Small, ISA president, said Wednesday.

Categories Of Hair-Styles Prevail Among Co-Eds

Placing the hair piece and putting the finishing touch to this hairstyle of Sherryl Warmuth (seated) is done carefully by Andrea Jonas.

BY ANDREA JONAS

How does the girl sitting next to you in class wear her hair?

Basically, we could type hairstyles on our campus into three categories: the mod-look of shoulder length hair plus eyebrow bangs; the conventional look of chin length, slightly curled hair, and the sophisticated top tresses of boucled curls or a circlet of crown curls.

In the latest issue of a leading fashion magazine, out of 54 models, 40 had bangs and 35 wore their hair long.

Yet long hair gives models the variety of hair styles which their profession requires.

But what about co-eds? After young girls wearing their hair long to look like everyone else, they are now cutting their hair short to look like everyone else.

R. Keith, a young man who is gaining reputation in hair circles, thinks long hair is great, if you're under 20. After that, "it drags your face down."

Short hair is fine, but it must have some height unless you want the Beatle look. Popular among short cuts are the swirling sideward sweep, the clipped cap cut, and the three-tier effect which heightens.

Teasing will also give height, but it must be done right. Some teasing at the root will keep the set in shape while leaving the ends free for swinging. Bangs, so popular with long locks, will still be good with short hair. Short hair affords more movement and more shape.

Colorings and conditioners are vogue. "Be creative" is the motto of hair styles, create with color. This may mean the whole coiffure or streaks.

Wigs, wiglets, braids, and bounces -- The average co-ed may not be able to afford an expensive wig but she can add a wiglet or braid to her hair accessories. A favorite on our campus is the head band made of a hair braid.

Need I say anything about boy's hairdos? They're for the bugs!

Maupin Schedules Senior Interviews

Elvin Maupin, administrative officer for the St. Louis district headquarters for Federal Drug Administration of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, will soon be on campus to interview seniors who wish to apply for positions of food and drug chemists or food and drug inspectors.

These positions are very important, Lewis Larsen, alumni and placement director, said, for both the chemist and inspectors are constantly busy checking on the safety of foods and drugs produced in this country and abroad to be used by the American consumer.

Interviews are now being scheduled by the Alumni and Placement Office, and brochures are available, he concluded.

Draft Cards Used As Heat Producers

BY CARL MANNING

Draft card cremations on some college campuses across the nation are evidently due to the cold weather. It seems that producing heat for the cold war situation has become a preponderant pastime for a few pacifists.

History has had such heat before. Throughout the annals of time, there have been extremist groups that were classified as "radical," "depraved," and "socially unfit," such as the Nazi Party, Fascists, and Communists. But the Free World has always been able to dampen such fires.

The Federal Government recently manufactured an extinguisher in the form of a revision of the 1949 Selective Service laws. The law now stipulates that "... the fine for willfully destroying a draft card shall not exceed five years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000."

But the flames of insurrection haven't consumed all. For instance, some University of Colorado students conducted a campaign this week for blood donations to be sent to the American troops in Viet Nam.

One wonders just how many of these draft card arsonists are classified as 1-A.

Autumn Weather, Bells Set Mood For Bonfire

BY KEN YAGER

"Our men are the bricks," Dr. Paul Meek said, "and the students are the mortar."

Dr. Meek's words set the theme for the pep rally and pregame bonfire Friday evening. Sparked by the chilly autumn weather, the outpouring of yelling UTMB students, UTMB's win over Murray State and the cheerleaders, the student body was ready to take Bradley University Saturday afternoon.

Armed with horns, bells, and other noise-makers, the students were ready to yell. They did! The much talked about Tennessee Spirit was evident. UTMB was on the offensive and there wasn't any stopping them now.

Standing around the bonfire, the students heard pep talks from the coaches and from some of the senior members of the

Senior Class Pix Are Now Available

Senior pictures have now been printed and can be picked up at the post office in Russell Duncan's office.

They should be returned to the post office by November 1 with a deposit of $3.50. This includes one glossy print for the yearbook, one 5" by 7" print and the picture for the composite.

Any extra pictures should be compiled on the order form.

Midnight Witches, Tricks Rally For Halloween Spirit

BY PAT CHAMBERLAIN

Witches and ghosts, bright oranges and midnight blacks, jack-o-lanterns and trickery all bring the spirit of Halloween.

Historically Halloween is the Eve of All Saint's Day. The eve of new year in both Celtic and Anglo-Saxon times and the time of ancient fire festivals was on October 31. This was the time of renewal of laws, land tenures, and divination. Halloween soon passed into the realm of folk observances. It was the Irish who brought the now popular secular customs to our country.

Trickery is a popular secular custom. It may be a night of mischief ranging from soaping windows to throwing eggs for boys and young men. Of course, college young men can think of better practical jokes than throwing eggs. What a reflection that would be on him! In some cases, folklore may also be used as an excuse for vandalism. Breaking windows and overturning four by four buildings aren't good practical jokes at all; in fact, this may result in much cost.

To the small children, Halloween is a time for going from house to house dressed as some demonic creature demanding "trick or treat". Usually treats are abundant and tricks are rare.

Halloween is a time for all these things -- merriment, trickery, superstition, mischief and even vandalism. Make Halloween a happy time by celebrating it in a constructive fashion!

Karlsrud Singers To Give Concert

The Men of Song Quartet will present this year's first concert series November 1 in the Music Building on campus.

The group features Edmond Karlsrud, bass-baritone; Paul Solem, tenor; Carroll Alexander, tenor, and Bruce Peyton, baritone.

Students will be admitted free with student activity booklet.

Having been rated by many critics as the finest concert quartet ever assembled, this season they will present an entirely new program with the partnership of Charles Touchette and Edmond Karlsrud again forming the guiding force behind this attraction, according to Harriet Fulton, associate professor of music.

In addition to concert appearances throughout the country, the Men of Song have performed on television, radio, records and in the movies.

Vanguard Presents Film This Evening

"Bridge on the River Kwai" sponsored by Vanguard Theater and Sigma Tau Delta will be shown tonight and again November 1, announced Ray Lancaster, English instructor.

The showing tonight will be at 8 p.m. in Room 112 of the Administration Building.

The November 1 showing of the film will be at 8 p.m. in Vanguard Theater in the Music Building.

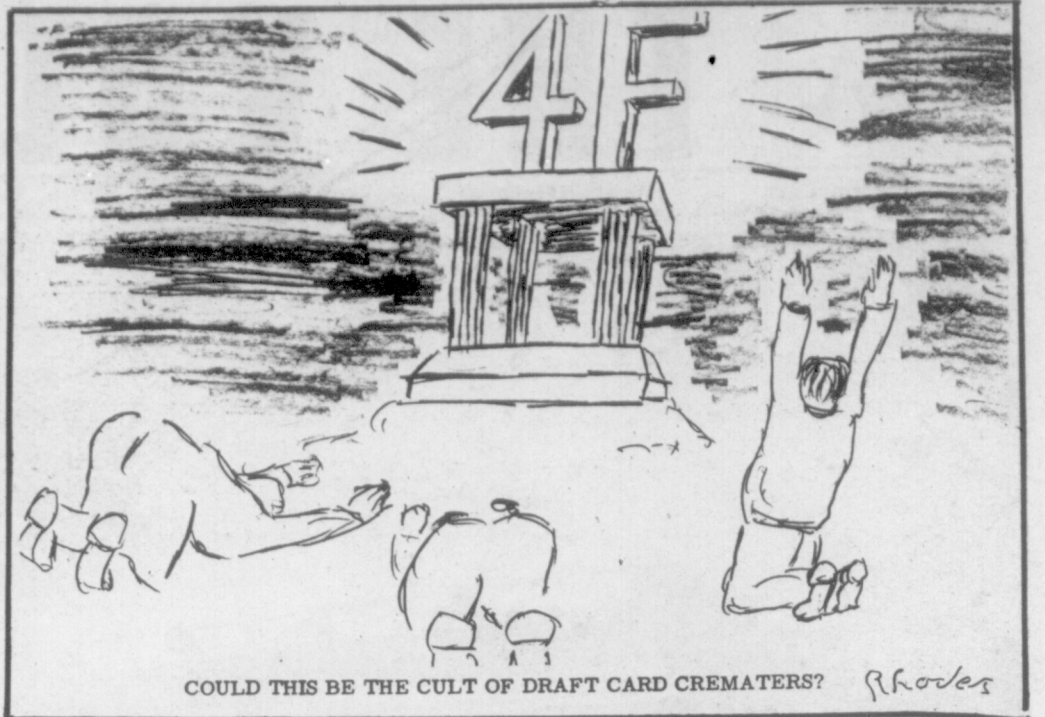

Mr. Lancaster explained the reason for two showings of the film is to make it possible for all to see it who are interested without conflict with the concert on November 1.

Senior Class Pix To Be Taken Soon

Seniors who have not had their class pictures made may do so this week or this weekend at Town and Country Studio in Jackson.

Those desiring transportation to Jackson can contact editors Annette Grissom and Bill Springer.

If the picture is not made at this time, it will not be in the 1966 yearbook.

Jo Ann Cobb (right), winner of the Women's Intramural Archery Tournament, and Dorothy Seeley, runner-up, count up their scores characterized by bull's eyes.

Jo Ann Cobb Wins Grant To Present Recital Archery Tourney In Music Building, Nov. 4

Out of a total of 45 women entered, Jo Ann Cobb, a junior in secondary education from Brownsville, has been selected the winner of the women's archery intramurals.

Miss Cobb had a total of 260 points out of a possible 324.

The runner-up was Dorothy Seeley, a sophomore in liberal arts from Henderson, with a total of 236 points.

The other eight women with high scores were Jean Starnes, Judy Steele, Pat Tawler, Judy Muzzal, Beverly Brewer, Joyce Sorrell, Janice Dunn and Connie Donnell.

Job In Insurance Open To Students

Any sophomore or junior male interested in a part-time job selling insurance should contact the Alumni and Placement Office for an interview prior to noon November 3, Lewis Larsen, director of alumni and placement, said Tuesday.

After graduation the job can be made full time.

The job will consist of selling life insurance, annuities, hospitalization, and other policies on a commission basis. The student will take local sales for a nationally known firm, he added.

Alpha Omicron Pi Chooses Name

A decoration committee to plan the interior of the Alpha Omicron Pi lodge and the adoption of the chapter name were completed at the business meeting Thursday night of the Alpha Omicron Pi colony.

The decorating committee consists of Linda Fowler, Norma Wilson, Laura Hooper, Linda Green and Margaret Butts.

The colony chose its chapter name, Tau Omicron, following the tradition of the Alpha Omicron Pi Chapters in Tennessee by using Omicron in the name of the chapter.

Zeta Pledges Choose Martha Plog Pres.

Martha Ann Plog has been elected president of the pledge class of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority.

Other officers elected to serve the quarter are Linda Dye, vice president; Marianne Jones, secretary-treasurer, and Patsy Gadd, house chairman.

Uga Grant, protege of Nelson and Neal, will present his recital November 4, at 8 p.m. in the Music Building, according to Miss Harriet Fulton, associate professor of music.

Mr. Grant, a native of Latavia, attended Curtis Institute of Music High School. This will be the fourth recital he has given in his three years as a music major at The University of Tennessee Martin Branch. He regularly appears on nationwide tours. Mr. Grant makes his home in Paris, Tennessee, and his family now lives in New York City.

At the recital, Mr. Grant will present the Prelude Choral and Fugue by Frank, Chopin's Sonata in Bb Minor, Gasbard de la Nuit by Ravel, and Pictures At An Exhibition by Mousorgsky.

Independents Sponsor Football Tournament

The Independent Students Association, with the support of the Physical Education Department, will sponsor a touch football tournament October 30.

There will be six teams entered and three games will be played. There will be no semifinals or finals.

Bands Of Surrounding Area Take Part In Homecoming

Five bands from the area participated in Band Day activities and Homecoming Saturday.

By 9 a.m. bands from Martin High School, Ed Turney, director; Central High School, Bruceton, Miss Margaret Jenkins, director; Huntingdon High School, Huntingdon, Bobby Baker, director; McKenzie High School, McKenzie, Charles Pruneau, director; Grove High School, Paris, Brill Crosswy, director, and The University of Tennessee Martin Branch Marching Band had arrived on campus. At 9:30 a.m. all bands rehearsed together on the football field.

The bands assembled on the field at 1:45 and E.J. Eaton, UTMB band director, led all six bands in the "Star Spangled Banner."

The UTMB Band formed a heart at half-time and played "A Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody" as Queen Lynn Page was crowned. While the crowd was standing the band played the UTMB "Alma Mater." The half-time show was entitled "Hillbilly Hit Parade".

Junior English Exam Will Be Given Tues.

The Junior English Exams will be given November 2 for all juniors who have not taken and passed it from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Engineering Physical Science Building Room 204.

This is the only time the test will be given this quarter and it should have precedence over any other activity at this time, Dr. Charles R. Mangam, head of the English Department, said.

Vols To Aim For Victory Over Demons On Saturday

The Volunteers will attempt to reach the .500 mark Saturday when the Northwestern Louisiana Demons invade the college field in Martin.

Northwestern will enter the game with a 4-1 record, having suffered their first defeat of the season last week to a strong Louisiana Tech squad.

The Demons, who had a 4-5 record last year in the Gulf Coast Conference, have 22 returning lettermen. The Demon line will outweigh the Vol's forward wall by virtue of two tackles, George Cognovich, 6'3" 235 pounds, and Phillip Cleel, 6'5" 260 pounds.

Calling cadence for Northwestern will be Donnie Carroll a 6'2" 210 pound quarterback. On the ground, the Demons will rely heavily on half-back Jim Aymond. Aymond averaged 10.9 yards a carry last year.

Regular starting quarterback Sandy Smith, who missed most of the Bradley game with a bruised shoulder, is still a doubtful starter.

Rifle Team Enters Matches At Murray

The results of the Murray State Fall Invitational Rifle Tournament held October 16 have been received and plans for two more matches have been made, according to Sergeant Billy Stout, instructor of military science.

Martin placed eighth in the Reserve Officers Training Corps team division and sixth in the girls' team division.

Overall champions were: first place - Murray State College, Murray, Kentucky; second place - Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond, Kentucky, and third place - University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky.

Members of the participating teams and their scores are: J. Cothran, 500; J. White, 483; J. Young, 468; L. Walker, 451; J. Aldridge, 437; N. Snow, 399; C. Rudd, 378; and G. Hatcher, 336.

Martin meets Middle Tennessee State here on October 30 and goes to Knoxville on November 6.

As It Looks From Here

BY BILL BENSON

It looks as though the Vols may finally be jelling into a consistently tough football team. The orangemen have never lacked the ability; but only in the last two games have they seemed to have found themselves. An upset victory over Murray and a homecoming win over Bradley indicates that the Vols are now gaining confidence.

The UTMB record of 2-3 really does not give a true indication of the type of ball the Vols have been playing. The three games that we have lost were to teams of the highest caliber. Arkansas State Teachers College is now a leader in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference. Middle Tennessee State is still undefeated (6-0). It might also be noted that MTSU whipped Chattanooga 30-7 and only defeated UTMB 24-14. Delta State is also undefeated thus far. UTMB was the first of only two teams to score on DSC thus far.

But games are not won by reflecting on past laurels. This week the Vols have a chance to even their mark at 3-3 for the season. They face a very big and strong Northwestern Louisiana State College squad. The Vols may not be big, but with added confidence and student support they will be one heck of a lot tougher.

Volunteers Defeat Braves In Spite Of Stiff Breeze

Overcoming a stiff breeze and Bradley's potent passing attack, the Volunteers defeated the Braves 34-25 in last Saturday's Homecoming contest.

On the ground the Vols offense steam-rolled for 240 yards while holding the Braves for only 45.

Despite the high score of the game neither squad was able to tally in the opening quarter. The Braves scored early in the second period; however, on a 10 yard aerial from Caress to Hal Montville. The Vols quickly tied the score after tailback Larry Shanks returned the kickoff to the Bradley nine yard line. Sandy Smith then hit Mack Moody from the six for the Vols initial score.

In the third period, with the strong wind at their backs, the Orangemen posted 20 points on the scoreboard.

Nenion Conley blocked a Bradley punt on the one yard strip and Larry Shanks bulled his way over with 14 minutes and 54 seconds remaining in the 3rd quarter. The Vols scored twice more in the third stanza. They stunned Bradley defense on a tackle eligible pass from Allan Cox to senior tackle John Jenkins. Gary Armstrong scored late in the third period from the Brave's two.

Armstrong scored his second touchdown from the two yard line during the final period.

College Master Policyholder OF THE WEEK

Jerry Lacy, secondary education major from Anna, Illinois. Jerry is an outstanding floor man for the Vols during basketball season. He plans to teach and coach after graduation.
